LIBRARIAN ROUSES TAKOMA PARK'S FIRE

George F. Bowerman Declared His Address to Chevy Chase Citizens Was Misquoted.

There was considerable indignation manifested by residents of Takoma Park and vicinity today, over the published statement ascribed to George F. Bowerman, librarian of the Public Library, in an address last night to the members of the Chevy Chase Citizens' Association, quoting him as questioning the wisdom of placing the $40,000 Carnegie library building at Takoma Park. Residents of the locality not only branded several parts of it as false, but declared that the daily attendance at the library amply justified its location.

Mr. Bowerman stated that the article on "which the indignation of the Takoma Park folk is predicated misquotes him in certain parts, and conveys an impression on which he did not mean to convey in other parts.

"I was drawing an illustration of why, in my opinion, the public schools in the suburbs should be modified in such a manner as to afford library facilities," said Mr. Bowerman. "I stated that the expenditure of $40,000 for a library building in a suburb, as was done in Takoma Park, was in itself not a good economy as using the same money in the construction of a library in a more populous section, say about two or two and a half miles from the main library.

"I explained that, in my opinion, it would be better economy in the suburbs to use the public schools for library purposes until the population in such communities were justified by the construction of a separate library building.

"The Takoma Park Library was not opposed by me at the time. I approved of it, and realize that the location of the institution in the suburb has been amply justified by its daily attendance.

"The salaries of the assistants at the library were all raised at the last session of Congress, and more money is being spent for books for that branch than ever before."

ANSWER FILED IN HUTCHINS WILL CASE

Lee Hutchins and Miss Rogers Plead Statute of Limitations in Bar.

Alleging the statute of limitations bars Rose Keeling Hutchins proceeding further with efforts to have probated the paper writing executed by Stilson Hutchins on May 27, 1908, Lee Hutchins and Mildred Rogers today filed amended answers in the Probate Court.

The answers are to rules issued on petition of Mrs. Hutchins, requiring the son and Miss Rogers to show cause why the alleged will of May 27, 1908, should not be probated and letters testamentary issued the widow.

The petitioners argue that Mrs. Hutchins cannot maintain any action in the will case by reason of the time limit. The assertion that the writing is not the legal will of Stilson Hutchins, and that it was procured by undue influence is reiterated in the answers of the petitioners.

Attorneys Meyer Cohen and William G. Johnson appear for Lee Hutchins, and Miss Rogers is represented by Attorney Edmund H. Parry.
